

Bedtime Story For the Little Ones

UNCLE WIGGLY AND THE LOOKING GLASS.

BY HOWARD H. GARRIS.

"A PACKAGE came for you this morning," said Nurse Jane Fuzzy Wuzzy, the mustache lady housekeeper, to Uncle Wiggly Loozara, the bunny rabbit gentleman, as he hopped down the stairs of the hollow stump bungalow to breakfast one morning.

"I wonder what's in it?" asked the bunny as he put a slice of carrot jam on his head and held it over the lecture coffee to have it flavored.

"I don't know. You'll have to open it to find out," answered Nurse Jane. "It is marked 'Glass. With care.'"

Uncle Wiggly was so eager and excited like that he could not wait to finish his breakfast, but quickly opened the package which Mr. Hummingbird, the lightning express messenger, had left at the bungalow early that morning.

"A looking glass!" exclaimed the bunny when he saw what it was. "And it's from Alice in Wonderland—at least, she used to live in Wonderland before she came to Woodland to have adventures with me."

"And there's a note with it," spoke Nurse Jane, as she saw a small white card with writing on it, the letters having been made with a burned stick, which marks black like a lead pencil.

"Yes, it's a little letter," said Uncle Wiggly as he read it. "And it's from Alice. It says: 'Dear Uncle Wiggly, I send you the Looking Glass I once went through and on the other side I had many adventures. I wish you the same.'"

"That's queer," said the bunny, as

Troubles disappear after taking Tanlac and she feels better than in 20 years.

"Tanalac has done me as much good that I have adopted it as the family medicine and besides myself, I have a son and daughter, two son-in-laws and a daughter-in-law, all taking it and being benefited," said Mrs. Mary Hadden, whose home is in Caldwell, Tex., where she has been a housewife for twenty years.

"I was afflicted with rheumatism and joint suffering for many years, without them hurting me. I did not want to take any medicine, but I was so tired and heavy feeling in the morning, that I could not get up. I would often wake up at night with a burning in my stomach that I could hardly bear. My liver was all out of order, and I felt tired and heavy, and my nerves were so shattered the least excitement would completely upset me. In my bed, my body seemed to ache just like neuralgia, my joints were swollen and my muscles and flesh were so hard I could hardly bear anything to touch me."

"I finally got so bad off, I had to be lit out of my bed and carried about like a baby. I had been in that fix for four months with hardly a ray of hope of getting well. I began taking Tanlac. If it had taken me I don't know what I would have done. But Tanlac didn't fail me. I was glad to say it after using it a few days. It began to improve me and my rheumatism and stomach trouble has gradually disappeared until now I feel better than I have in twenty years. My nerves haven't bothered me at all, and I have had entire peace of mind. I am now as healthy as a horse. Tanlac is about it. I have been taking Tanlac, and this is certainly remarkable for one of my age who has suffered as long as I have."

Tanalac is sold in El Paso by Kelly & Pollard and Twigg's Drug Store.

Lemon Water Ice.

G RABE the poet of six lemons onto a half-pound of loaf sugar, place it in a saucepan, strain the juice of the lemons over; with this make a syrup, adding five cups of water and another pound of sugar. Strain, place it in the freezer and freeze to the desired consistency. A little powdered cinnamon sprinkled over the top of each portion is appreciated by many. This is ideal for cooling and quenching one's thirst on hot days. (Tomorrow—Creamed Cabbage.)

Baths.

M ANY French physicians disapprove of the hot and soapy bath, because the force of the water brings the blood to the surface. Besides, a shower can be installed in a house where there is no space for a full sized bath room.

The very fact women will find hot baths tend to reduce hair. The nervous woman will find that a hot bath followed by a cold shower, will act as a wonderful tonic. The woman who is chronically fatigued will find that a warm bath with a little sea salt, will stimulate and yet quiet her. An alcohol rub right after the bath is a wonderful tonic to the skin, and prevents one from catching cold.

Then there are the baths for whitening and softening the skin—out-door, cold, hot, or lukewarm, with or without sweet herbs. Dried lavender flowers make a wonderfully refreshing bath and leaves a delicate perfume to the skin.

Any sort of toilet vinegar in the bath is soothing and refreshing, while plain sea salt, which can be bought in large weighing from one to ten pounds—or the salt that comes for making ice cream—costs little and is splendid for the skin.

Questions and Answers.

A Friend writes: "I would not use the witch hazel in an eye, but would use red or white vasoline to the eye-lashes grow. Or, if you want I can send you the recipe for something that acts faster than vasoline. The preparation you mention in mostly plain vasoline, at about seven times its price."

Olive oil will help develop the arms, but has a slight tendency to grow hair. Try exercise of all kinds—our door game—fencing is wonderful if you can take lessons—swimming is good, too.

Subscribers—I do not know anything of the brand of soap and sulphur you mention, but that mixture of herbs, if made properly, will darken the hair. And sulphur itself is a tonic. Yes, alcohol is good to run on the neck, but cream now and then as well, to counteract the drying effect of the alcohol. I do not know anything about the catnip remedy—it is a patented article. 14 Years Ago Today

From The Herald of this Date, 1905.

A VERY enjoyable trolley ride was given last night by Robert M. Baker to many of his friends. All lines were covered and refreshments were served at a convenient point. Those present were: Misses Yess, Lerner, Beale, Williams, Lillian Collins, Gussie Hardin, Allen Brown, Dabney, Hester, Mabel Cummings, Florence Hall, Bonnie Hallman, Mary Phillips, Franklin, Alma Johnson, Edwards, Cooper, Bertie McGinnis, Frances Hughes, Lucile Collins, Mrs. Archie, Mena, Robert M. Baker, Mrs. W. King and family, left for the Southern Pacific yesterday afternoon for Los Angeles, where they will spend the summer.

Pope Leo is very weak and it is expected that he will live through the night. He is being treated by Dr. W. King and family, who were going last night, but he failed and still lives. A temporary successor has been appointed, Monsignor Verpe, appointed last night, when Pope Leo realized that the end was near.

At a meeting of Hone company one last night, L. M. Turner and J. E. Naylor were elected to membership. Mrs. W. King and family left for the Southern Pacific yesterday afternoon for Los Angeles, where they will spend the summer.

Ben Michelson, of the H. Leinsky company, expects to leave in a few days for California, where he will spend thirty days vacation.

M ARILYN MILLER, the daughter of all the New York Winter Garden flowers, is to be one of the stars of the Advance Motion Picture corporation, the new company organized by Les Shubert, Arthur Hammerstein, and Ralph W. Ince. A new plan, in fact, will be introduced by the company. During the course of every season scores of young actresses appear in the plays produced by the Shuberts and Mr. Hammerstein. Whenever possible the women of the casts of the photographs will be recruited from these actresses, who will thus be able to fill in their leisure hours acting for the screen. In addition to Miss Miller some of the young actresses who will pose for the screen under the company's direction are Peggy Wood, Elaine Hammerstein, Dorothy Thompson, Rosie Quinn, Vivian Wood, Vivienne Segal and Muriel Martin Harvey.

"HART'S SWEETHEART"

Mary Jane Trivette, best known at the Culver City studios as "Hart's Sweetheart," is playing an important part in a forthcoming play, starring George Burdette. Mary Jane, who is only two years old, decided, upon starting work in this picture, that she would only play the part of Miss Burdette, and it has become necessary for the star to be present during the filming of each and every scene in which the baby appears.

Edith Spence, the secretary in "Her Excellency," the Governor, comes straight from the legitimate stage. She has just finished an engagement with Nautica in "Canton Shocks," at which she took the only other woman's part. Miss Spence appeared also in "War Brides" with Miss Nautica.
